About Dublin City Council

The Dublin City Council Heritage Office is part-funded by The Heritage Council and is concerned with refining and promoting an understanding and appreciation of the architectural, archaeological and cultural heritage of the city.

The Conservation Office of the Planning and Economic Development Department administers the provision of professional advice to owners of protected structures on conservation issues, and oversees conservation grants.

About the Irish Georgian Society

The vision of the Irish Georgian Society is to conserve, protect and foster an interest and a respect for Ireland's architectural heritage and decorative arts. It is a charitable organisation, founded in 1958, with over 2000 members. Everyone is welcome to join and by doing so you support our four programmes: Conservation Projects; Buildings at Risk; Scholarship and Publications; and Conservation Education. This conservation course is an action of the latter programme.

Society members can attend events, such as lectures, seminars, conferences and tours in Ireland and abroad of architecturally significant buildings which are generally not open to the public.

Conserving your Dublin Period House: Spring 2017

A twelve-week lunchtime talk series presented by the Irish Georgian Society and Dublin City Council to be held from 1pm to 2pm on Tuesdays in February, March, April and May at the RSAI, 63 Merrion Square, Dublin 2.

The Irish Georgian Society and Dublin City Council have assembled a team of conservation experts to present a series of talks on the history and significance of Dublin's period houses and practical advice on their conservation. Attendance at the talks will greatly benefit owners of all periods and types of houses, from the modest Edwardian artisan dwelling to the substantial red-bricks of the Victorian suburbs and the fine townhouses of our Georgian city squares, providing an 'A to Z' for their care and conservation.

Talks, which will commence on Tuesday 21st February 2017 from 1pm to 2pm and continue for 12 weeks, will take place in the Helen Roe Theatre, RSAI, 63 Merrion Square, Dublin 2.

It is possible to attend all, one, or as many of the talks as you wish. The talks are priced at €15, which you may pay for at the door or book in advance for a special reduced price of €125 for all twelve talks. Complementary to the Tuesday talks will be a Saturday morning walking tour, at an additional cost of €15.

The Conserving your Dublin Period House course is an action of the Dublin City Heritage Plan and fulfils Dublin City Council's conservation policy to provide architectural advice to homeowners. It is also an action of the Irish Georgian Society's Conservation Education Programme.

The Conservation Education Programme is supported by Irish Heritage Insurance, Merrion Property Group and Heather and John Picerne.

These talks will also benefit building professionals and practitioners and are approved for CPD by the Royal Institute of Architects of Ireland, Engineers Ireland, the Society of Surveyors of Ireland, the Irish Planning Institute and the Heritage Contractors.
